SOUTH WOODS STATE PRISON ORTHOPEDIC CLINIC

The patient is a 52-year-old male, who is 2 years status post arthroscopic surgery of the right shoulder. The patient apparently had shoulder pain persist within 6 months of surgery. An MRI done prior to evaluation in August 2016 showed bicipital tendinitis as well as the possibility of a labral tear. The patient had refused surgery back in 2016.

Noted on exam is that the shoulder pain has persisted. There really have been very few changes in the patient's condition with regard to the shoulder. The main changes now that he is in a wheelchair. He needs the arm to propel himself.

I understand that the patient had to stop taking anti-inflammatory agent as well as aspirin because of an ulcer in the stomach or duodenum.

Surgery to evaluate the shoulder arthroscopically and to perform a biceps tenodesis, was offered to the patient. As before, he will consider the offer of surgery, but he is noncommittal to the surgical procedure.

If it is appropriate resuming an anti-inflammatory med, such as ibuprofen or Naprosyn may be appropriate. If not use of tramadol coupled with Tylenol may get better relief of pain. The patient need not be referred back to clinic unless he is ready to have surgery.
